SABBATH

Rest is rooted in the creation story and the Decalog (4th Commandment, Deuteronomy 5:12-15). Rest is holy to the Lord. Sabbath is not a day off or vacation, it is holy and to be a unique day in our week. The following S's will help you keep this special day holy, a sanctuary in time.

The S's of Sacred Sabbath:

Supply - in advance, supply the Sabbath with everything you need to make it rich. Secure food, tickets, gas, plans, etc. so you're free to rest. Get time sensitive work done to supply margin to relax without worry.

Stop - cease all regular paid and unpaid work.

Settle - after the hard stop of work, front load your Sabbath with exercises that give permission to settle all insecurities about work and trust God to have your back while you disconnect from work.

Savor - soak in only beauty, joy, peace, love, fun, really savor the good. Only engage in activities that are restorative to your body and soul.

Synchronize - recognize that seeking to gain the world will distance your soul from God the giver of life. Repent and synchronize your heart with God's love for you, his sovereignty and providence.

PRAYER OF AWAKEN & EXAMEN

The prayers of awaken and examen is an ancient way to bookend your day. It will take some conditioning to develop the soul habit of awakening to the Lord's presence, and then examining your day in the Lord's presence each night. I recommend you simply use Psalm 19:14 "Lord, may the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in Thy sight, my Lord and my redeemer." Then for the Examen altar the verse slightly, "Lord, have the words of my mouth today and the meditations of my heart been acceptable in your sight?" Then reflect on your day in the Spirit.

RULE(S) OF LIFE

Rules of life are personal rules that you establish at the direction of the Spirit for specific reasons. These rules are meant to be challenges for the year and very personal. For instance, imagine your father never said, "I love you" to you. This resulted in you not saying, "I love you" to him or others. A rule of life born of reflection in the Spirit may be to say, "I love you" to all whom the Lord directs you to. Another possible ROL could be to try new things, like Thai food, gardening, dancing, exercise, art, etc. The ROL could be anything or one thing. There are no rules for ROL's, except that you create some.

CONTEMPORARY SOUL EXERCISES

- Media Fast: Denying ourselves all or some media in order to spend that attention on God's presence.
- Praying for the success of our competitors: Sit in God's presence and invite the Holy Spirit to show you who your competitors are. Be open to hearing what you do not want to hear.
- A day without guile: Attempt to live one whole day not angling every situation or conversation for your benefit.
- A day without talking negative about others: Only speak about others in positive language. Don't even report information that could be interpreted negatively.
- An afternoon of silence at an art gallery or in nature.
- Sleep: Commit to getting at least 8hrs of sleep per night.
- Practice hospitality: Invite people to your home that you would not normally think of inviting into your home and treat them very well.
- Practice loving those we disagree with: Intentionally spend time with people you don't agree with and treat them with grace, preferring to listen to them with no judgement and only love.

The following are creative real life Spiritual Disciplines and Rules of Life of a church leader. These street level ideas will challenge your soul as a new exercise at the gym would challenge your body. Pick one or two and personalize them for yourself.

Have at it!

- Fasting – No mints. I was addicted to winter green mints – eating 30 to 35 day easy. Constantly throughout the day I wanted to eat mints. It took prayer to get through.

- Needed to renew my mind. Stopped watching the news. (Romans 12:2) I realized my mind was getting filled with a lot of useless stuff and causing me to think negatively.
- No radio. Drove in silence. Practiced praying and talking to the Lord while driving.
 - (1 Thessalonians 5:16).
- Woke up every morning and said "Holy holy holy is the Lord God almighty who was and is to come." Before starting my day. (Revelations 4:8). This really helped me start my day off talking to the Lord.
- Clean up my speech – I speak a lot of slang. I decided to clean it up and start saying "good morning" instead of "hey what's up." This was a tough one but I thought it was important for people to take me seriously.
- No sarcastic remarks – 1st day, 1st hour I realized I would have normally made about 12 smart comments! (Ephesians 4:29). By being sarcastic I wasn't being encouraging to the folks I was speaking to. Also, sarcasm tends to annoy folks, not bless them.
- Stop recreational cussing – No cuss words even joking around. Clean up what comes out of my mouth. (Ephesians 4:29)
- Listen more and speak less. Intentionally listen to people and not interrupt them. (Proverbs 21:23). I realized I talked more than listened and often I would make a mistake as a result. Therefore, I began listening more and thinking before speaking or reacting.
- No complaining – (Philippians 2:14) By working on not being sarcastic and listening before I speak, I realized I complain a lot. I made it a point not to complain. My spouse noticed right away and quickly realized it was something I was working on.
- Read a book to help spiritual disciplines/prayer – ended up reading several. They go hand in hand with scripture reading.
- Read the book, The Resolution for Men. Or the one for women. I got 5 men to do it with me. We all signed resolutions.
- Live Romans 12 – My spouse and I spent the whole month practicing Romans 12. Being kind, not like the world, serve well, give generously, love others, work hard etc.
- Memorize scripture – Romans 8. Got about 10 men involved to do it as well
- Read Bible daily – Invite your spouse to read with you for accountability.
- Do kind gestures for my spouse - Go over and above to do things for them (Ephesians 5:28)
- Take moments of silence – Take intentional quiet breaks throughout the day to refocus and reset. (Psalms 46:10). This helped my mind refresh. I speak with God, breathe and relax.
- Pray for work – My spouse and I even went to my office every Sunday after church to pray over the building and everyone that worked there. (Luke 11:9)
- No video games – Play station was occupying some of my time. Taking time from spending with my spouse. We began to take walks together and just hang out doing things.
- Use a prayer list – I prayed daily but began using an actual prayer list.
- Invite at least 1 person (un-churched) to church each week – harder than it sounds, but helped me to learn to be open and look for opportunities to speak about church and God. We have plenty of opportunities if we just look and pay attention for them.
- Be in two places at once – At work and with Jesus at the same time. Speaking with someone and with Jesus etc. Everything I was doing I just imagined Jesus was there. It changed how I spoke and how I conducted myself.
